For the third year running Griffin has been identified as one of London Stock Exchange Group's 1000 Companies to Inspire Britain report. The annual report is a celebration of the UK's fastest-growing and most dynamic small and medium sized businesses across the UK.

To be included in the list, companies need to show consistent revenue growth over a minimum of three years, significantly outperforming their industry peers.

Griffin's inclusion in the LSE report comes in addition to its ranking in the 2019 Financial Times' 1000 Europe's Fastest Growing Companies list. Griffin's appearance in this year's Financial Times list built upon its showing in the 2018 report.

Over recent years, Griffin has developed into one of Europe's leading OTC energy venues having gained a reputation for delivering high quality service in all areas of its business on the back of constant innovation and improvements.

Commenting on Griffin's inclusion in the 1000 Companies to Inspire Britain report, Simon Davidson, Griffin's Chief Executive Officer said: "To have all our hard work and persistence recognised for the third year in a row by the LSE is a great reward for everyone at Griffin who continually strives to be the best at everything they do. We will always be a customer-focused business and are constantly looking for new ways in which we can add value and enhance the trading experience for our customers."

David Schwimmer, CEO, London Stock Exchange Group commenting on the report said: "Congratulations to all the companies selected for inclusion in the sixth edition of London Stock Exchange Group's 1000 Companies to Inspire Britain report, which identifies the UK's most dynamic SMEs. SMEs drive growth, innovation and job creation and are the lifeblood of the British economy. We believe that supporting the growth of these businesses is critical to the UK economy and the creation of a society that works for everyone."
